creative content production + service

AVA. is a creative content production company based in Spain; one that also takes a special pride in servicing the work of other production houses, agencies, and brands from around the world.

Our team of highly experienced international executive producers and producers are well versed in the many advantages of shooting every variety of film and content production in Spain, but we think our real strength, when it comes to Service Production, lies in our creative DNA.

Who better to understand the creative challenges that global production companies, agencies, and brands face than a company who themselves are actively engaged and committed to making great work.
